

ABOUT

We are a non-profit designed to open doors for all children based on the belief that no child's imagination should go unexplored. By promoting literacy, supporting education programs, building libraries, and supplying high quality books to underserved communities, we encourage kids to dream big. Curiosity is the seed of a full and successful life and we aspire to nurture that seed. That's why we chose the name:

THE WORLD WAS MADE FOR YOU

GET INVOLVED

Help us empower today's youth and make this world a little more perfect. Every act of service makes a difference. Whether by lending your time & talents or simply by spreading the word, you can make a difference in the lives of children and youth. Sign up to volunteer with The World Was Made For You or inquire about a partnership and we will contact you via email when there are new opportunities.

Any amount helps us achieve our goals

PROGRAMS

Children's Home-Libraries Program

We keep children aware of and engaged in service projects by building home-library boxes that are filled with exciting donated books and given to children without access to books at home. Our goal is to create new literacy opportunities for all children in Philadelphia and surrounding communities. It's well known that literacy is the foundation to a child's development, well being, and future success. We designed this program to encourage literacy in a new and engaging way.

To date, we have designed over 100 home-libraries and collected over 5,000 books.

NAHJEE GRANT

Founder, Executive Director

Nahjee Grant, the founder and head of The World Was Made For You has a deep, impact-driven history in the philanthropic space.

He sees a future where great opportunity is available to every child. A world where every child has all the mentally-stimulating books they need to learn to think creatively, open their imagination, and ultimately succeed in their academic career and in life. Nahjee's vision is one where a library of valuable books is always readily available to unlock the mind and potential of every child

In addition to The World Was Made For You's work, Nahjee is the author of 10 children's books with overarching themes of self confidence, finding your passion, and pursuing dreams.

BOOKS, SCHOOL SUPPLIES, AND BACKPACKS

The organization has had the privilege of donating books, backpacks and school supplies to children in Philadelphia and surrounding communities. On September 8th, 2018 we set a new world record packing 3,500 backpacks for children.
